

At Last! Columbia and Cleveland 1906 Bicycles are Here

Earthquake and fire prevented prompt delivery this year, but now that they are here they are good to look at and better to ride. If you are really in a hurry, have that 45-mile-an-hour feeling, why not ride a Columbia Motorcycle? They are the real thing. We have just received two of these Motorcycles and one is already sold—the other goes to whoever speaks first.

The most complete line of bicycles, parts and bicycle sundries and a large repair shop, can be found at

Captain Wood WAS IN CHARGE OF Dry Dock Dewey

Capt. J. N. Wood, who was in charge of the drydock Dewey on its long tow around the world, was a passenger aboard the wrecked Sheridan. "Our long voyage was an eventful one," said the Captain to a Bulletin representative yesterday. "We experienced rough seas in the North Atlantic, where we broke loose from the flagship Glacier that was towing us. Again, the weather in the Mediterranean was extremely bad. In the China Sea, with the strong winds buffeting against the high sides of the dock, it was at times surprising that we did not experience disaster. Eventually, after a six months and thirteen days' trip from Chesapeake Bay, we anchored safely in Subig Bay. "I cannot throw any light on the cause of the Sheridan's wreck, but it does seem strange that I had to be delayed here."

It was evident from this last remark that Captain Wood did not think he would enjoy his enforced stop in Honolulu. When told of the good accommodations he would get here, and of some of the things worth seeing his state of mind was changed.

Mr. Isaacs, a Navy officer who was a watch officer aboard the flagship Glacier while towing the drydock Dewey to Subig Bay, is a passenger on the transport. The third officer and most of the crew that manned the drydock are also aboard, going back to the States.
